lively stated by Mr. McClure at 331-3 per cent.

In the face of all this, the prices of live stock have gone down.

Former Gov. Waiter R. Stubbs, of Kansas, who is among the leaders of the movement for an investigation, declared that in October, 1915, there was a drop of $1.25 per hundredweight in two days, just at the time when the stock was being rushed to market, and that in all an average fail of $2 in the price took place in this period.

There were violent fluctuations in the market, which he insisted had never market, which he insisted had never found reflection in the price of meat market, which he insisted had never found reflection in the price of meat products.

On the other hand, as soon as the fall marketing was well advanced at these low prices, prices of meats were advanced so much that on some varieties of bacon they have gone up as much as 5 cents per pound in the last fortnight.

Mr. Fisher and his principals agree that live stock raisers are discouraged ever the situation, and are more and more disposed to discontinue raising meats. They pointed out that under present conditions this is a particularly dangerous condition because the high price of grain tends to tempt farmers away from the production of stock and into growing more grain, particularly wheat.

Last year, they pointed out, this country produced the jargest crop of wheat in its history, and this year it is expected to see even that record broken. These gentlemen express the fear that unless something is done to etabalize the stock-production of wheat, for which, as soon as the war ends, prices will go down rapidly, while there will be insufficent supply of meats.

"We do not pretend to know the inside of this business," said Mr. Fisher, "We are anxious first of all to get all the facts gathered together. The office of markets at the Department of Agriculture has been doing some useful work, and the Federal Trade Commis-sion can do more." The representatives of the packers have proposed that they would be very glad to turn over all information possible, including the privilege of examining their books and accounts, to any governmental authority that might be indicated. They have protested that they have nothing to conceal and will be glad to co-operate in any inquiry. The representatives of the

The live stock people, however, are doubtful of the satisfactory results of any investigation which the packers voluntarily join. They say that live stock raisers as well as the commission men. through whom the stock is marketed, will in a large proportion of cases fear to volunteer testimony. The only way to get them to shed real light on the subject will be through somebody with

"The big stockyards of the country, excepting that at Chicago, are now under the control of the packers," said Mr. Flaher.

"This includes Kansas City, Omaha, Sioux City, St. Joseph, South St. Paul, East St. Louis, Fort Worth, Wichits, and Oklahoma City, We do not believe there is the substance of real competition in buying stock, and are convinced that there is nothing in the general marketing situation to justify the violent fluctuations that prevail in the market.

The Safest Investments

Are those that do not fluctuate during dis-turbed conditions of the money or stock mar-kets. First deed of trust notes (first mort-gages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gift-edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or cor-porations for their stability, and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Send for booklet "Concerning Loans and Investments."
